

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF MICHIGAN
SOUTHERN DIVISION

SEAN JAMAR RAMSEY, # 246350,

Petitioner,

v.

Case Number: 10-cv-14752
Honorable John Corbett O'Meara

GREG MCQUIGGIN,

Respondent.

OPINION AND ORDER GRANTING PETITIONER'S REQUEST TO STAY
HABEAS-CORPUS PROCEEDINGS AND ADMINISTRATIVELY CLOSING CASE

I.

Petitioner Sean Jamar Ramsey, a state inmate currently incarcerated at the Chippewa Correctional Facility in Kincheloe, Michigan, filed a pro se petition for writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2254. Petitioner is challenging his guilty convictions, imposed on August 22, 2002, by a Wayne County, Michigan, circuit court jury, for (1) first-degree, premeditated murder, MICH.COMP. LAWS § 750.316(1)(a), (2) assault with intent to commit murder, MICH.COMP. LAWS § 750.83, (3) felon in possession of a firearm, MICH.COMP. LAWS § 750.224f, and (4) felony firearm, MICH.COMP. LAWS § 750.227b. He was sentenced to life without parole. In his pro se pleadings, Petitioner alleges: (1) he was denied his right to present a defense, (2) he was denied his Confrontation Clause rights, (3) the prosecutor committed misconduct, (4) his trial counsel was ineffective, (5) there was a cumulative effect of errors, and (6) his appellate counsel was ineffective.

Pending before the Court is Petitioner's request for a stay of his habeas proceedings. He is asking for the stay so he can return to state court to exhaust his claim regarding newly-discovered evidence, thereby complying with the exhaustion requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 2254. Petitioner's request is couched within his “Motion for Immediate Release from Custody,” as well as in his habeas petition. He contends that this newly-discovered evidence may establish his actual innocence for the crimes for which he has been convicted.

For the reasons set forth below, the Court will grant Petitioner’s request to stay so he may return to state court to exhaust. The Court also will administratively close the case.

II.

A prisoner filing a petition for writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 must first exhaust all state remedies. See O’Sullivan v. Boerckel, 526 U.S. 838, 845 (1999) (“state prisoners must give the state courts one full fair opportunity to resolve any constitutional issues by invoking one complete round of the State’s established appellate review process”); Rust v. Zent, 17 F.3d 155, 160 (6th Cir. 1994). Federal-habeas law provides that a habeas petitioner is only entitled to relief if he can show that the state court adjudication of his claims resulted in a decision that was contrary to, or involved an unreasonable application of, clearly established federal law as determined by the Supreme Court of the United States. See 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d). The state courts must first be given a fair opportunity to rule upon all of Petitioner’s habeas claims before he can present those claims to this Court. Otherwise, the Court is unable to apply the standard found at 28 U.S.C. § 2254.

To satisfy the exhaustion requirement, a petitioner must present each ground to both Michigan appellate courts. See Welch v. Burke, 49 F. Supp. 2d 992, 998 (E.D. Mich. 1999); see also Hafley v. Sowders, 902 F.2d 480, 483 (6th Cir. 1990). The burden is on the petitioner to prove exhaustion. Rust, 17 F.3d at 160.

In his request, Petitioner states that he seeks to exhaust his claim of actual innocence based on newly-discovered evidence. Petitioner states that this claim was not raised in the state courts because he did not have the evidence to support it; Petitioner alleges that he can demonstrate that he is actually innocent of the crimes for which he was convicted and he wishes to pursue collateral review on the issue and then proceed in federal court on habeas review as necessary.

A federal district court has discretion to stay a mixed habeas petition to allow a petitioner to present unexhausted claims to the state courts and then return to federal court on a perfected petition. See Rhines v. Weber, 544 U.S. 269, 276 (2005). Stay and abeyance, however, are “available only in limited circumstances,” such as:

when the district court determines there was good cause for the petitioner’s failure to exhaust his claims first in state court. Moreover, even if a petitioner had good cause for that failure, the district court would abuse its discretion if it were to grant him a stay when his unexhausted claims are plainly meritless. Cf. 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(2) (“An application for a writ of habeas corpus may be denied on the merits, notwithstanding the failure of the applicant to exhaust the remedies available in the courts of the State”).

And if a petitioner engages in abusive litigation tactics or intentional delay, the district court should not grant him a stay at all. See [Zarvela v. Artuz, 254 F.3d 374, 380-81 (2d Cir. 2001)].

Rhines, 544 U.S. at 277-78.

Petitioner asks this Court to exercise its authority and hold his habeas petition in abeyance. Having considered the matter, the Court finds that it is appropriate to stay this case.

The Court is aware that Petitioner has already filed one post-conviction motion in the Michigan courts. Under Mich.Ct.R. 6.502(G)(1), a criminal defendant in Michigan can typically file only one motion for relief from judgment with regard to a criminal conviction. See Banks v. Jackson, 149 F.App’x 414, 418 (6th Cir. 2005); Hudson v. Martin, 68 F.Supp.2d 798, 800 (E.D.

Mich. 1999) (citing to People v. Ambrose, 459 Mich. 884, 587 N.W.2d 282 (1998)). However, Mich.Ct.R. 6.502(G)(2) states that a defendant may file a second or subsequent motion based on a retroactive change in law that occurred after the first motion for relief from judgment or a claim of new evidence that was not discovered before the first such motion. Banks, 149 F.App'x at 418; Hudson, 68 F.Supp.2d at 800-01.

Petitioner is alleging that he has newly-discovered evidence of his actual innocence. Because there is some likelihood that the Michigan courts might permit Petitioner to file a second post-conviction motion for relief from judgment pursuant to the newly-discovered-evidence exception contained in Mich.Ct.R. 6.502(G)(2), a procedural bar to Petitioner filing such a second motion is not clearly applicable. Therefore, the Court will grant Petitioner a stay in order to permit him to return to the state courts to attempt to exhaust his claims. See Banks, 149 Fed. App'x at 419-20. Additionally, it appears that the limitations period applicable to habeas actions could pose a problem if this Court were to dismiss the petition to allow further exhaustion of state remedies. See 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1).

Moreover, a showing of actual innocence is “a gateway through which a habeas petitioner must pass to have his otherwise barred constitutional claim considered on the merits.” Schlup v. Delo, 513 U.S. 298, 315 (1995) (citing Herrera v. Collins, 506 U.S. 390, 404 (1993)). A gateway claim “does not require absolute certainty about the petitioner’s guilt or innocence.” House v. Bell, 547 U.S. 518, 538 (2006). “A petitioner’s burden at the gateway stage is to demonstrate that more likely than not, in light of the new evidence, no reasonable juror would find him guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.” Id.

Against that backdrop, it would not be an abuse of discretion to stay this case while Petitioner exhausts state remedies for his claim of actual innocence. Furthermore, Petitioner's claim does not appear to be "plainly meritless." Rhines, 544 U.S. at 277. Petitioner contends that he did not previously raise that claim in the state courts due to his lack of knowledge of the information. The Court finds there is no indication of intentional delay by Petitioner. Accordingly, the Court concludes that it has discretion to stay this case pending Petitioner's return to the state courts to fully exhaust his habeas claims.

When a district court determines that a stay is appropriate pending exhaustion of state court remedies, the district court "should place reasonable time limits on a petitioner's trip to state court and back." Rhines, 544 U.S. at 278. To ensure that Petitioner does not delay in exhausting his state court remedies, the Court imposes upon him time limits within which he must proceed. See Palmer v. Carlton, 276 F.3d 777, 781 (6th Cir. 2002). Petitioner must present his claims in state court within sixty (60) days from the date of this order. See Id. Further, Petitioner must ask this Court to lift the stay within sixty (60) days of exhausting his state court remedies. See Id.; See also Abela v. Martin, 348 F.3d 164, 170 (6th Cir. 2003). "If the conditions of the stay are not met, the stay may later be vacated nunc pro tunc as of the date the stay was entered, and the petition may be dismissed." Palmer, 276 F.3d at 781 (internal quotation omitted).

The Court also will direct the Clerk of the Court to administratively close the case.

III.

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED that Petitioner's request to stay his habeas proceedings is GRANTED, and this case is STAYED. The stay is conditioned on Petitioner presenting his unexhausted claims to the state courts within sixty (60) days of this order if he has not already done so. See Hill v. Anderson, 300 F.3d 679, 683 (6th Cir. 2002). The stay is further conditioned on Petitioner's return to this Court with an amended petition, using the same caption and case number, and also served upon Respondent within sixty (60) days of exhausting his state court remedies. Should Petitioner fail to comply with these conditions, his case may be subject to dismissal with prejudice.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that upon Petitioner's return to the Court that Respondent file a supplemental answer to the amended petition within ninety (90) days of receiving service of the amended habeas petition. Petitioner shall have thirty (30) days from the date of the responsive pleading to submit a reply.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, as part of the answer, Respondent shall file with the Clerk a copy of the relevant transcripts, the relevant appellate briefs submitted by Petitioner and the prosecution, and the state appellate opinions and orders that were a part of the collateral review of Petitioner's unexhausted claims.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Clerk of Court CLOSE this case for statistical purposes only. Nothing in this order or in the related docket entry is meant to be an adjudication on the merits of Petitioner's claims. See Sitto v. Bock, 207 F.Supp.2d 668, 677 (E.D. Mich. 2002).

IT IS SO ORDERED.
